

THE COLORADO COLLEGE

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO 80903

June 28, 1985

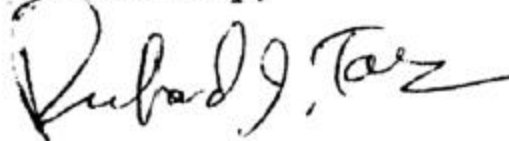

To whom it may concern:

I would like to take this opportunity to recommend Matthew Bayley and the Colorado Academy of self-defense. Mr. Bayley and I have coordinated a series of self defense courses, seminars for the student body at Colorado College during the last year and a half.

Matt's course philosophy as well as style of teaching are very compatible with Colorado College's needs. We seek to educate students to be aware of an environment, which is potentially hostile. The course doesn't instruct individuals to endanger themselves, rather it heightens awareness with regards to individual options. The decision to acquiesce or defend oneself in the face of an attack is up to the individual.

Our students report feeling more confident as they walk about campus or the city. In addition, they are more cautious and project a stronger image which is quite important. I highly recommend him and his course work.

Sincerely,
