TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I am writing to recommend the Fighting Chance self-defense course for women. A week ago ten women from our office of Center for Creative Leadership took the 4-hour class from Mathew Bailey. We thoroughly enjoyed participating in the class, but beyond that, of course, felt we learned numerous positive methods to protect ourselves in a pro-active, assertive manner. The course is taught in an upbeat manner which helps to instill self-confidence that there are many things we can do to make ourselves non-victims of assault from strangers.

I enthusiastically recommend this class for any office group or individual.
