TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Matthew Bailey has twice presented his self protection program for female students and faculty members for Liberty High School. His presentations have both been well received and many students and faculty members have asked for him to come back and present again. Participants have said that his presentations are dynamic, focused, and packed with very useful information.

Matthew went out of his way to help us promote and plan for the program, including making a presentation to 450 students to give them an overview of the large presentation. I was impressed with how the short overview gave students immediately useful information and how he caused them to reflect on their attitudes and behaviors.

Matthew has been very easy to work with and very cooperative. His message for teenagers and adults is powerful and delivered in a manner that motivates. I highly recommend his program to any organization that has a need to change and improve interactions between people.

Sincerely,

Steve Morrison
Principal
